

I am a seasoned traveler I fly almost every week. There is nothing more rude than to listen to someones conversation on an airplane when you don't want to, but you're trapped. Last week I moved from 1st Class to coach because a self involved traveler who thought everyone wanted to hear his jibberish. Now place a cell phone in everyones hand and you really can't escape.

I have no problems with the Airphones that some planes already have on board. You don't see them in use very much because of the expense, so why do you need a cell phone? If you can't be out of contact for more than 2 hours, you should drive. Most good sales calls last that long and if you're a good sales person you turn the phone off.

I'm begging you please do not allow cell phone use in airplanes. It's the only sanctuary I have left.

R.J. (Bob) Gomez
A cell phone user